PRICE TWO CENTS

OVER 300 LIVES LOST WHEN FRENCH WARSHIP BLOWS UP AND SINKS

FRANCE IS WILD WITH EXCITEMENT

Liberte, the Best Ship in Navy, Sinks in a Cloud of Smoke

THREE EXPLOSIONS ARE FELT

Many Acts of Heroism Performed During the Disaster; Sailors Stick to Post

OTHER SHIPS SEND IN HELP

Concussion Kills Scores on Vessels Anchored Near Ill Fated Warship

TOULON, France, Sept. 25. — At least 316 officers and men of the cruiser Liberte died today when the war ship blew up and sank in the roadstead off this place. One hundred of the crew escaped by swimming ashore. It was at first supposed that the hundred had drowned, but because many of the sailors had not returned from Sunday shore leave, a closer estimate of the dead would be near 300. Her total crew numbered 710, of whom 120 were on shore leave.

A short circuit in the storeroom forward is supposed to have caused the disaster, but as the cause is not known positively, there is the wildest excitement throughout France. The disaster bears a striking resemblance to the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, and this fact adds not a little to the popular excitement.

Finest Craft in Navy

The Liberte, one of the finest crafts in the French navy, was commanded by Captain Jaures, brother of the famous socialist. At the time of the explosion, he was absent from the ship, as were two hundred members of the crew. The fire broke out about 5 o'clock this morning. At 5:30 the first explosion occurred, followed by second and third explosions at 5:45 and 5:55. Immediately after the last explosion, the vessel sank in a cloud of smoke.

Other ships in the squadron sent relief in the intervals between the explosions and several of their seamen were injured in the rescue work.

Many acts of heroism were performed during the disaster, the crew sticking to their posts with martyr-like devotion to duty.

All Toulon Shaken

The force of the explosion of the main magazines was terrific. It killed twenty seamen and injured fifty on the Democratic anchored near the ill-fated battleship and shattered windows all over Toulon.

One freak of the explosion was the wreck of the cutter from the warship which was enroute to the shore to bring back members of a Liberte party. A gigantic block of the metal structure of Liberte fell on the cutter, sending it to the bottom and drowning or killing every occupant.

The scenes of excitement that followed the explosion have never been exceeded in the navy here. Just before the first explosion the alarm that the fire was dangerous had spread among the fleet naval officers of shore. Big tugboats, equipped with fire-fighting apparatus, had started for the naval anchorage to aid in getting the fire under control, when the first explosion came. It was not of any great strength, but was enough to indicate to experts on shore that the big warship, pride of the service, was probably doomed.

Watchers Knocked Down

When the big magazines finally let go, the concussion was so severe that hundreds of people on the docks were knocked off their feet.

Members of the crew of the ill-fated warship who were waiting to return besieged the office of the port commandant and asked to be sent out to see if they could discover and rescue any of their comrades. By order of the port commandant the doors of the yard and naval arsenal were closed and information refused until the officials of the navy department at Paris could be communicated with.

The warship Republique was so badly damaged by the explosion which destroyed the Liberte that she had to be hurriedly dry docked. The force of the explosion broke the Liberte in two and her forward

TURKO-ITALIAN WAR MAY COME

Italy's Raw Attempt to Seize Tripoli Starts Jingle of Arms in Constantinople

OTHER POWERS INTERESTED

Hostilities May Set Spark to Magazine All Europe Is Sitting Over

VIENNA, Sept. 25. — All Turkey is fighting mad. The attempt of Italy to seize Tripoli has awakened the country to the fact that she must fight to maintain her territory, and all classes of Turks are rallying to the support of the government. All of the reserves have been summoned to the colors and the order expelling all Italians from Turkish territory is in the hands of the premier, signed by the sultan, ready to be issued as soon as it is certain war must come.

The Turkish commanding officers have been instructed to place all of their commands on a war footing. Advice received here today say that if Italy invades, the fighting will be most bitter and unless Italy is able to land more troops than the early reports indicate her commanders think it will be needed to conquer and retain Tripoli, they are likely to be overwhelmed.

No confirmation is as yet obtainable of the report that the Navigazione Generale Italiana's steamer Regina Margherita has been seized by Turkish officials at Messina, Asia Minor, but the report is accepted as true in government circles here.

Old Sores Reopened
Italy's attempt to acquire Tripoli by sheer strength has caused alarm here and in most of the capitals of Europe. It is feared that it will open anew the Mediterranean problem just at a time when it seemed certain that it was to be settled.

There are 50,000 Italians in Turkey and their financial interests are very large. The porte, it is understood here, has sent a curt message to Italy saying all private property will be considered subject to seizure if any armed Italian force shall land at Tripoli.

First Army Corps Ready

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 25. — The first army corps is being mobilized for embarkation to Tripoli to reinforce the 30,000 Turkish troops already there, in readiness to oppose an Italian seizure of the colony.

Might Start General War

LONDON, Sept. 25. — The advisers from Italy and Turkey are causing gravest concern in all capitals of Europe. Hostilities at this time between the two nations might furnish the spark to set off the powder magazine on which Europe has been sitting for a decade. The attempt of Italy to seize Tripoli is resented here, but the position of the British government will be one of stern neutrality for the present at least.

Throughout Italy the cry "On to Tripoli" has been raised by the friends of the government as a good plan to put an end to the industrial discontent and to the conditions resulting from the spread of the cholera. The move has been popular as, owing to the hostility now evident in America toward Italian immigrants and the absolute lack of opportunity at home, the poorer class of Italians are unable to find a place to dispose of their labor.

Turks Ideal Soldier

A new Italy in Africa has been the ambition of the present Italian government for some time, and it has been consistently pointed out that inasmuch as Turkey has no navy, she would prove an easy prey to Italian aggression.

This belief is not accepted here, however. British officers despise the Italian as a soldier and declare that, despite his indolence, the Turk is an ideal fighting man and that when Italy tries to operate outside of the protecting zone of the guns of her fleet, she will court disaster.

Then the population of Tripoli is Musselman and can be depended on to aid Turkey. It will never submit tamely to Italian domination and the result will be, even if the Turks are finally defeated, almost constant civil war.

Latest advices from Rome say that an expedition is ready to start toward Tripoli.

Urge Italy to Yield

LONDON, Sept. 25. — The English and German governments are urging Turkey to yield to Italy's demands concerning Tripoli. It is said both England and Germany will try to remain neutral in the event of a Turko-Italian struggle, but European internal politics are so involved that it is never safe to predict who will or will not be drawn into such conflicts, and with the Moroccan difficulties apparently just about to be settled, diplomats are sorry to see fresh trouble. It is agreed that Turkey could make short work of Italy were it not that the former has no navy, while Italy has a fairly strong one, and ships will be needed to wage a Turko-Italian campaign.

Doctor Freed from Charge Of Murder.

Dr. W. H. Falker, who killed Emil Dignos in a vacant house.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. — Much mystery surrounds the killing of Emil Dignos, formerly mechanic in the Moisant aviation camp. According to the finding of the coroner's jury, the doctor is blameless and shot Dignos in self-defense after having been robbed by him. Sufficient mystery surrounds the case, however, to warrant additional investigation on charges brought by Mr. Hogue, with whom Dignos was rooming. According to the Falker story, he was called to the vacant house to treat an alleged invalid uncle of Dignos. When he entered the house, Dignos held him up at the point of a revolver and secured his watch and other valuables. At the first opportunity the doctor grappled with the mechanic, overpowering him and eventually shooting him in what is said to have been self-defense.

STOLYPIN SLAYER HANGED IN JAIL

Public Suspects that Announcement of Execution Is Untrue; May Be Alive

KIEFF, Sept. 25. — It was announced by the governor general today that Dimitri Bogroff, the assassin of Premier Stolypin, was hanged shortly before noon in the courtyard of the citadel. The hanging, like all other similar affairs in Russia, was witnessed only by officials of the local government.

Although the official announcement was complete, telling just when, where and how the assassin was executed, there was doubt indicated in certain quarters whether Bogroff had actually been put to death. The fact that the murderer of the premier was a police agent, and that it has been disclosed that he acted on behalf of a clique of officials who wanted the premier for political reasons, is responsible for this feeling. The governor general, however, says there was no chance that the powerful interests behind Bogroff could have interfered with the execution and in a public statement says he witnessed it himself.

WILL PUSH M'CREA MURDER TRIAL

OPELOUSAS, La., Sept. 25. — That he will be prepared to prove the relations between Allen Garland, the young man killed last week by Mrs. J. P. McCre, who said the youth insulted her, were of such character as to effectually disprove the insult theory, was the statement today of District Attorney Lee Garland.

"Even if I am forced to recuse myself, I will assist in the prosecution and will insist that Mrs. McCre be hanged," continued the district attorney, who is an uncle of the woman's victim.

John Lewis, counsel for the defense, said they would endeavor to prove there were no criminal relations between young Garland and Mrs. McCre.

LA FOLLETTE NOT PERFECT—HANSEN

If the result of the debate of the W. P. D. S. held last night counts for anything, Bob La Follette is slightly lacking as a presidential candidate. After a heated debate on the question, "Resolved, that La Follette should be nominated for president," the judges decided in favor of the negative, which was upheld by G. J. Jolivet and Hansen. Mr. Manus and Mr. Marcon spoke on the affirmative side of the question.

On the question, "Resolved, that the United States should establish federal courts of arbitration to settle all difficulties between capital and labor," the affirmative won. The speakers were: Affirmative, Messrs. Wagner, Merman and Ferris; negative, Messrs. Webb, Boschert and Mahoney.

FAIR WEATHER TO OPEN INTER-STATE

Observer Thompson Promises to Turn Sun Loose when Gates Are Unlocked Tuesday

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE

La Crosse Day Promises to Eclipse Attendance Records for All Previous Days

"Generally fair tonight and Tuesday."

"Charlie" Van Auker was at the telephone, while close by his side were T. H. Spence and other officials of the big interstate fair, which opens here tomorrow.

"Double Nine," called "Van" and there was a pause.

"Weather bureau? What's the prediction for tomorrow?" queried the genial secretary.

Everything was on high tension. There wasn't a sound in the secretary's office at the fair grounds while the crowd breathlessly waited for Weather Observer Thompson's ruling.

Then there was a whoop from "Van."

"It's gonna be fair!" he shouted, whereupon the officials voted Mr. Thompson the best and sanest observer Uncle Sam ever deputized for the local office.

The weather promises to be fair tomorrow and if the predictions of fair officials are anywhere near accurate the attendance on the opening day promises to eclipse records of all previous years.

Tuesday La Crosse Day

Tomorrow is La Crosse Day at the big event and practically every La Crosse business house has agreed to close at noon to enable the employees to attend the fair.

The exhibits this year are complete in every detail and the entry list is one of the largest in the history of the association.

Every booth in the big exposition building has been taken and today practically every one had been fitted up ready for the huge crowd which will doubtless throng the grounds tomorrow.

Speedy Races

A speed program that is one of the fastest to be secured has been booked.

"Why some of the horses to race here will go so fast they'll have to wear asbestos shoes," was Van Auker's description of the card for Tuesday.

The amusements have been left to the Capital City Amusement Co., which officials claim is adequate to fill all requirements of visitors.

All of the railroads into La Crosse have granted rates for the event and large delegations are expected from all of the surrounding towns. Sparta, West Salem and Bangor have promised to send crowds while the Southeastern is always loyal to the local fair.

$25,000 PACKAGE STOLEN FROM P. O.

St. Louis Postal Authorities

Refuse to Discuss Huge Theft Over a Year Ago

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25. — A local newspaper man has learned that a registered package containing a bank shipment of between $25,000 and $30,000 in currency was stolen from the St. Louis post-office a year ago. During that time the theft has been kept secret, known only to the postoffice officials who are investigating it. Postmaster Atkins refused to discuss the matter today. Washington officials cautioned the local postal representatives not to divulge any facts in connection with the theft.

THIRTEEN KILLED AND TEN HURT WHEN TRAIN HITS DANCING PARTY

ROBINETTE BODY FOUND NEAR HOME

Negro Who Would Have Wife or Death Found in Pasture Near Scene of Crime

NOTHING IS LEFT BUT BONES

Thought to Have Escaped After Shooting Girl, but Drinks Carbolic Acid; May Claim Body

Lying face downward with a large bottle, half-filled with carbolic acid near at hand, the remains of Edwin Robinette, the negro who shot and wounded Silva Price and who it was believed, for the last two months, had made his escape, were found within two hundred yards of the girl's home by John Polinger and William Perch early yesterday morning.

Following the shooting affair at the home of Miss Price on the old Cargill farm, Robinette turned the weapon upon himself, and the bullet not proving effective, snatched up a bottle of carbolic acid and dashed from the house. Posses were organized but after a week's search without result, the matter was dropped, the authorities coming to the conclusion that he had made his escape.

The finding of the bottle, which was half empty, gives rise to the theory that upon his leaving the house he drank its contents in order to end his life. This can not be determined as little remains but a mass of bones.

The shooting is said to have resulted from the refusal of Miss Price to wed Robinette, who had been employed by her parents during the last three years.

Polinger and Perch were passing through the pasture but a short distance from the home when they discovered the body lying in a clump of weeds. The authorities were immediately notified and Coroner L. Kleber, Sheriff Chris Burns and Chief of Police Weber hurried to the place where the body was found.

The remains were removed to the undertaking parlors of William Dwyer, where they will be held awaiting instructions of an aunt residing in St. Louis. It was decided that no inquest would be necessary.

MANY VISIT NEW STORE ON OPENING

That the new firm, Fred W. Kruse and company, which has opened in the J. Bartel store, 409-413 Main street, is due to become one of the leading establishments in the ladies' furnishing line, in La Crosse is evident from the cordial patronage which they received from the hundreds of people of this city and vicinity upon their opening day.

The new company which opened to the public Saturday is now holding a grand opening which will continue during the week and during which time they are offering special inducements in order to become acquainted with the La Crosse people. The Fred W. Kruse company is dealing exclusively in the ladies' ready-to-wear line.

Mr. Kruse, head of the firm, today announced that he was pleased with the reception tendered the new firm by the general public and that as the aim of the company would be to please all patrons at all times, by carrying an extensive line ranging from moderate priced goods to the very best grade, the success of the new company is assured.

WHO SLUGGED SKELETON?

Who gave the skeleton of Ed Robinette a "punch in the face?" Robinette is the negro who suicided after shooting a girl several weeks ago. Undertaker William Dwyer is the man who wants to know. Someone entered Dwyer's morgue and knocked three teeth from the skeleton last night. Two of the teeth were found on the floor, but one was missing. Was it a "souvenir crank" or was it a friend of the girl Robinette shot?

Six Found Dead on Pilot of Engine; Didn't See or Hear Approaching Train

NEENAH, Wis., Sept. 25. — A coroner's jury will convene this afternoon to investigate details in connection with the frightful accident here in which thirteen persons were killed and ten injured when a flying Chicago & Northwestern passenger train crashed into a hayrack load of thirty-one young people returning from a dance and wedding anniversary in the country early yesterday.

The dead: James Drill, Chicago, 24, unmarried; Gustave Winn, Oshkosh, 22; Mrs. Gustave Finn, Oshkosh, 19; Frank Siegart, Menasha, 20; John Hardt, Menasha, 22; Agness Zapachsky, Menasha, 19; Jos. Shedik, Menasha, 22; Amanda Spring, Menasha, 21; Stephen Fox, Menasha, 23; Celis Rentz, Menasha, 20; John Domick Omnachinski, Menasha, 23; Joseph Sodolsky, Menasha, 21; Anna Sodolsky, Menasha, 29.

The injured: Herman Spring, Menasha; Tony Murski, 21; Mrs. Joseph Brezinski, 23; John Suchdolsky, 19, may die; Ben Dombrowski, 22, Menasha; Joseph Brezinski, 24, will die; Anna Suchdolsky, 18, will die; Miron Olsen, 21; Phillip Mott, Chicago, 23.

Most all the ill-fated party were employees of the paper and woodenware mills at Menasha, Wis., just across the river from Neenah. At least four of the injured will die while two cannot survive the day, according to hospital surgeons.

The huge iron nose of the flying train literally sent many to death with songs on their lips. The entire party was singing and it is thought for this reason the noise of the oncoming train was unheard. The hay wagon was splintered into kindling wood, many of its merrymaking crowd at the same second reduced to corpses and horribly injured. Six bodies were taken from the engine pilot when the heavy train came to a stop eight hundred yards beyond the fatal grade crossing. It was here that the mutilated remains of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Finn, Oshkosh, Wis., bride and groom of but a few weeks, were found clasped together. Their marriage had been a secret affair and was not known by but a few of the party.

The body of James Drill, Chicago, was found one hundred feet away on the opposite side of a barn, having been hurled over the structure. Two more mutilated corpses were located in debris of a switch shanty, fifty feet distant, the impact of the flying bodies crushing the walls of the building like an eggshell. Two more bodies, mutilated horribly, were picked up by the city firemen, called immediately after the crash, when some one wittingly pulled an alarm box. The bodies were tenderly placed in a hose wagon and started for a hospital. Both died within a few moments.

Included in the occupants of the wagon were Mr. and Mrs. John Brezinski. In the woman's arms was her child of two years. Farther along on the same side of the rack was Mrs. Schwartzbauer. The latter was hurled into space and rendered unconscious. Only slightly injured, Brezinski and wife made a frenzied search for their infant. The child was found in Mrs. Schwartzbauer's arms uninjured.

Doctors from both Neenah and Menasha called hurriedly to take the scene rendered first aid to the injured and assisted in laying out the dead until the bodies were transported to a vacant store building temporarily converted into a morgue. It is stated here today that undertakers and assistants are working overtime preparing the corpses for burial.

It is now thought a signboard obscured the grade crossing here where a fast Northwestern train struck a haywagon of thirty-one merrymakers returning from the dance early Sunday morning, and turned the scene into one of horror.

COMMISSION G. K.'S PLAN FOR PARK

Concrete Wall with Provisions for Boat Landing Will Doubtless Be Put In Here

Park Commissioner Joseph Hixon this morning announced that in all probability the plans for the new Levee park would be changed to make possible the building of the concrete wall and boat landing advocated by Superintendent Forrer.

The plans have already been drawn by the park superintendent and landing places are provided for launches at all stages of water.

This is an announcement that brings joy to the hearts of the 300 local motorboat "bugs." La Crosse has lacked suitable dockage for boats and the plans of Forrer solve the long standing question.

ESCH FREIGHT LAW ENFORCED

Standardizing of Freight Cars Made Compulsory, and Companies Are Complying

That the law recently passed through the efforts of Congressman John J. Esch of this city, compelling the standardizing of all American freight cars is being complied with by the various roads, is the belief of the local congressman.

Along the Chicago & Northwestern and other lines new men have been added to the car repair departments in order to handle the increased work incident to the changing of the cars to conform to the style required by the interstate railway commission. According to the requirements of the commission ladders must be placed on the end and on the outside of two diagonally opposite corners of each box car, where now there are many of such cars that have the ladders only on the outside. These ladders must be bolted instead of being fastened with lag screws and the running boards on the top of the cars, which are now nailed must be bolted on in the same manner.

According to the estimates made by officials of these various roads these changes will involve an expense of between sixteen and twenty dollars on each car. The railroad companies are given five years in which to have all the cars changed to conform to the requirements laid down by the interstate railway commission. When cars of other companies are accepted in exchange the line accepting them will likewise be held responsible if they should not be up to the standard.

While in Chicago, the secretaries were invited to attend the International Municipal Congress and Exposition held at the Coliseum.

FAIR WEEK BILL BEST SHOWN HERE

Splendid Array of Stars on Program at Majestic Theatre; The Norrises Are Clever

MINSTREL MAN A SCREAM

While Dainty June Roberts & Co. of Four Has No Trouble in Making Hit Here

The special program for fair week, arranged with great care by the Majestic theatre management presents a gathering of vaudeville stars the equal of which has seldom, if ever, been seen here.

From rise to fall of the curtain the show is entertaining and enjoyable throughout and the hearty applause from the large audience at all shows Sunday showed the appreciation of La Crosse people of the management's efforts to present nothing but the best.

Juggling DeLisle opens the bill at La Crosse's popular play house and in his act presents feats new in La Crosse. He is clever and accomplished and has a repertoire of "stunts" that are the work of skill.

The Norrises in a clever comedy musical act, featuring the "12x2 Band" are entertainers of the highest order. Their act which is filled with high class music throughout is brought to an end with the two members of the team playing twelve instruments at once.

"Doll Maker's Dream"

It is impossible to praise too highly the "Doll Maker's Dream," which is presented by Dainty June Roberts & Co., of four. It is a clever sketch, the acting is good and the plot is interesting. This act has been making nothing but "big towns" and it was only through the influence of the local theatre management that the act was secured for the first half of the week here. Will H. Roberts takes the part of August Lieberman, the old dollmaker, while Mrs. Will H. Roberts interprets the part of "his wife, Katrina, who never says anything" in an intelligent manner. June Roberts, the baby, is a feature all by herself and found a warm spot with the audience on Sunday.

Blackface a Scream

Emil Subers, The Minstrel Man, is a scream from start to finish and has a string of wit and music that is simply immense. He is one of the best blackface comedians who ever stopped upon the Majestic stage and the large audiences Sunday were kept in a continual uproar by his clever comedy.

"A Disappointed Elopement," is the title of a clever film comedy that is run this week and is in keeping with the rest of this exceptional bill.

SESSIONS OPEN OCT. 2

SENATOR HEYBURN IS IN MILWAUKEE PREPARING AND ARRANGING FOR STEPHENSON PROBE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 25.—No one at this time can foretell the scope of the investigation into the election of Senator Stephenson with which a committee of the United States senate is charged, which will open its sessions on Oct. 2 in the circuit court room of the federal building. That will remain with the committee.

This statement was made Sunday night by Senator William B. Heyburn, Idaho, committee chairman who arrived here to complete final arrangements for the investigation, when asked whether the primary election will be considered.

"That will be decided by the full committee when it meets," said Senator Heyburn. "I will, however, go through all the testimony and arrange it conveniently so that in case the committee should decide to keep up the primary campaign we will be in shape to know just what every witness may be expected to testify to."

The rooms in the federal building were selected by Mr. Heyburn to

How Is Your Weight?

While it is true that too much weight is not to be desired yet the fact remains that many men and women are thin to the point of danger. This danger lies in their having no reserve force or nerve power to combat deadly diseases. A little extra flesh is needed by all to feel well and to look well, and this calls up the question of how best to increase the weight. Physicians and chemists, by experiments have solved the problem of increasing the white and red corpuscles of the blood, by the administration of 3 grain hypo-nuclease tablets, and this is always followed by an increase of weight. Obtain in sealed packages, and take for a period of several months according to directions with package.

BUT ONE ISSUE

There is room for at least two interpretations of the controversy, or misunderstanding between Dr. Evans and the board of education. We regret whatever feeling may have been engendered. We believe the board is made up of men earnestly devoted to the cause of education and of physical and moral improvement in the schools. We know Dr. Evans as a tireless social worker who has devoted much unselfish effort to the betterment of school conditions. Indeed, the physician who labors to reduce disease to a minimum through agencies from which he can derive
no profit is curtailing his professional opportunities, and must be recognized as actuated by Christian humanity.

The fact is that examination by an expert of the health department
shows the existence of a serious condition involving the health of school children. Dr. Evans advocates a nurse for the schools, and feels that the board of education has not acted
in the matter with the promptness
the situation demands. The board, on the other hand, affirms that it has attempted no action only because it was not informed of the facts, and adopts a conciliatory attitude.

There is evidence to warrant the belief that a misunderstanding exists. We hope that this is the case.
The essential thing before us, however, is not the merits of a controversy as to past events, but direct,
positive and vigorous steps to relieve
a condition which the humanity of this community does not sanction.

WHAT KIN 'E DO?

Noting that President Taft proposes to signalize his "swing around the circle" by vocal illumination of such subjects as "uniform marriage and divorce laws," the Chicago Inter-Ocean, which has stood pat where it was put by the Lorimer crowd,
lo! these many years, delivers itself of the following remarkable thought:

"All who keep clearly in mind the fact that Mr. Taft is going out to make these speeches in an avowed

effort to get re-elected to the presidency of the United States, and who would like to see Mr. Taft succeed in that effort, must feel a slight uneasiness as they contemplate what is said to be his program.

"The country feels a general depression of energy. It feels that the times are lean and growing leaner.
It is not plunged in adversity, but it feels a depressing slackness of prosperity. The cause is plainly the confusion of politics and public affairs. The need of definite policies, of constructive convictions, of firm
leadership, is felt everywhere by sober-minded men. And it is very difficult to see how Mr. Taft's campaign plans are going to supply the demand."

The concern of the Inter-Ocean is probably justified. But how can it expect the president to go about parading the indefensible policies of his administration. If by preaching social morality he can divert attention from political corruption, who shall say he is not wiser than his Chicago critic. Are not these evasions the most approved method of the day? Did not "Blonde Bill" Lorimer present his Sunday school record to the United States senate
as a defense against the charge that his election had been accomplished by bribery? It is going to be hard enough for the president to "get
by," even if he can prevent his fool
friends from "tipping him off."
These northwest farmers are "hep."

A FEW FLOWERS

The ladies of the Twentieth Century club and the North Side Women's club have ample reason to congratulate themselves upon the outcome of the flower growing contest
which they conducted among the school children. We anticipate equally satisfactory results from the back yard beautification contest
which these clubs have been conducting. In a coming generation this good work will find expression in beautiful home surroundings and attractive boulevards. That will be the outward physical expression of spiritual flowers grown in the fertile soil
of young souls.

Incidentally, The Tribune desires to thank the clubwomen for a pretty bouquet that found its way from the exhibition to this office. Editors are more used to brickbats, excepting
during the gloomy hours of the
"turned slug" preceding "Constant Reader's" "In Memoriam."

At Chicago an aeroplane dropped into the lake and proceeded to distance the Disturber II, a celebrated racing motor boat. Now if the bird-men will invent an automobile and a submarine attachment, the Wright brothers' achievement will have attained its ultimate possibilities.

AUTO RUNS DOWN TWO

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 25.—
Jacob Maciejewski, 1902 Eighth avenue, is under arrest in the central police station charged with driving an automobile without lights late at night and running into a wagon driven by Oscar Schwarzbach, who together with his 3 year old son, Oscar, was thrown off and injured about the face and body. The accident occurred on Eighth, near Dakota avenue. The injured were taken to the butcher
shop of Joseph Kowalski, Eighth avenue, and later to their home at Layton and Eighth avenues.

Edison as a Dilutant

The following anecdote is related by Thomas A. Edison. A meeting of directors had been held a few days before at his Orange laboratory. The conversation turned on the recent indictments against trusts. Edison
mentioned that he had been present
at a dinner of "captains of industry"
some time ago. One of the directors said:

"Edison, how was it that you were invited to dine with this crowd?"
He replied without a second's hesitation.

"Oh, I suppose it was to dilute
the company."—Harper's Weekly.

He Wasn't Affectionate

Francis Wilson, the actor, tells
the following story on John Mason:

Wilson, having spent several summers at a small hotel in Vermont,
advised Mason, who was in search of a quiet place for rest, to go there, telling the proprietor that he was Wilson's friend. Mason arrived at the small town and made his way to the inn. He found the proprietor sitting on the front porch, with his chair tipped back, smoking a corn-cob pipe.

"I am Mr. Mason," he began. I have come here through a friend of mine, Mr. Francis Wilson."

The landlord, quite unconcerned, kept on smoking. Thinking he might be deaf, the newcomer started again,
somewhat louder. "I am Mr. Mason:
I have come here through a friend of mine, Mr. Francis Wilson." Still no response. Convinced of his deafness, Mr. Mason began once more.
"I say," he roared, "I am Mr. Mason, and have come here through a friend of mine, Mr. Francis Wilson."

The proprietor slowly took his pipe from his mouth and turned to Mason, "I heard you the first time,"
he said calmly. "What do you expect me to do, kiss you?"

On a Bat

The French Canadian always has trouble with "th." At a debating club in the province of Quebec members were required to draw a slip from a hat and debate upon the subject they received. A young countryman arose.

"I have drew the word 'bat.' I must hold you dere is two, tree different kind of bat. Dere is de bat wot you play de baseball wit, de bat wot fly in de air at night, and also de bat where you take de swim."—Success Magazine.

What Puzzled Him

Sergeant Atkins has served for many years in foreign climes and now he was traveling back to the village where he was born. In the carriage of the local train that carried him over the last stage of his journey he related some of the strange adventures which had befallen him.
And the workmen present listened in open-mouthed wonder.

"In that battle," said the soldier,
"we fought from 8 in the morning
till 8 at night and never stopped a moment."

"Sounds all right," said the only doubting one. "But—there's just one thing I can't understand."

"Indeed," said the sunburnt warrior. "And what is it you don't understand?"

"Well, what I want to know is this," answered the horny hand one,
in a tone of subdued triumph. "How did you manage about the dinner
hour, eh?"—London Answers.

Last Wolf Handicapped

"Yes," said the returned traveler,
"the most exciting bit of sport that I recall happened while traveling in Russia. One night, when sleighing
some ten miles from my destination,
I discovered to my horror that I was being followed by a pack of wolves.
I fired blindly into the pack, killing
one of the brutes and to my delight saw the other stop to devour it. I kept on repeating the dose with the same result and each occasion gave me an opportunity to whip up my horses. Finally one wolf was left, yet on it came, with its fierce eyes glaring in anticipation of a hot supper."

"Why, man," said one of his listeners, "by your way of reckoning
the last wolf must have had the rest of the pack inside it."

"Ah," said the traveled one, "now
I come to remember, it did wobble a bit."—London Ideas.

Diving Barred

Two inexperienced anglers went fishing one day. One sat down on the pier, while the other stood. Just before beginning operations they made a wager with each other as to who would make the bigger catch of fish.

They had been fishing for about half an hour with little or no success, when John, who was standing,
lost his balance and fell off the pier.

As he went headlong past Dick, the latter gave a yell, and said:

"Hi, John, if you are going to dive
for 'em, the bet's off!"—Tit-Bits.

A good night's sleep doesn't seem nearly as important to the one who gets it as to the one who doesn't.

"What is that you tell me?" suddenly demanded Josephine. "That Mr. Dunwoody has changed his political beliefs—that he has become Free Soiler."

Jeanne nodded. "I think it is so name. I know little of such matters, naturally. To me, my infant here is of much more importance than any question of free soil. It is possible in this country that one day this infant—were it of opposite sex—might arrive to be governor of this state—who knows? It is possible, in the belief of Hector, that this infant, were it a boy, might even become president of this great republic. Ah, well, there are hopes. Who shall set bounds to the achievement of a child well born in this country of America? Is it established that Hector and I may not
at a later time, be blessed with a son? Is it established that that son shall not be president? Is it not necessary that some boy shall grow up to be a president? Very well! Then who shall say that a child of ours, if
of a proper sex, Madame, should not
one day be president of this republic?"

"Yes, yes, Jeanne! I do not doubt that. But now you were speaking of Mr. Dunwoody."

"Yes, that is true. I was rejoicing that at last he has been defeated, that he has failed, that he has met with that fate which should be his.
Now he has few friends. It is charge against him—well, Madame, perhaps it were as well not to repeat
all of that."

"I can understand," said Josephine slowly. "I can guess. Yes, I know."

Jeanne nodded. "Yes, they bring up stories that at one time you and I—well, that we were there at Tall-woods. But these wild people here, who shoot and fight with knives,
they are of all peoples in the world
the most strict and the most moral,
the most abhorrent of what is not their own custom of life. Behold, that droll Mr. Bill Jones, in jest perhaps, expressed to others his belief that at one time there was a woman conceal about this place of Tallwoods! Yes! Madame knows with what ground of justice this was said. Very well! The people took it up. There was comment.
There was criticism. These charges became public. It was rumored thus and so in all the district of Mr.
Dunwoody. He has fought the duel
—oh, la, la!"

"Ah, well, as for Madame, by this time she was far away. None knew her name. None doubted regarding her. But as for Mr. Dunwoody, he was here—he was discovered! Behold it all! At the election
he was defeat. Most easily did this happen, because, as I have said, he no longer was of the same political party which formerly had chosen him. There you have him. That has come to him which he has deserved!"

The eyes of Josephine St. Auban
flashed with interest over this intelligence. "He has changed his belief, his party! But no, it is not possible that he should come out for our party, our cause, Jeanne—our cause, for the people of the world—
for liberty! I wish I might believe
it. No, it can not be true."

"Yet it is true, Madame. A turn-coat! Bah!"

"No, Jeanne! Not in the least should you feel contempt for a man who honestly changes a belief. To turn from error, is not that always wisdom?"

But Jeanne only shrugged her shoulders, and held out her hands
for the baby. "It is naught to me,"
said she. "We are happy here under this roof, are we not?"

"Precisely. We are safe here.
That child yonder is safe here. But how long shall we be safe if there are not those to keep this roof protected? The law, Jeanne—the justice, back of the law—are these things of no interest to you?"

"At least, when it comes to

IMPORTANT PRESCRIPTION

FOR STOMACH TROUBLES

This comes from reliable medical authority as being one of the most remarkable prescriptions of recent years as demonstrated in the results shown by its widespread use in hospital work and private practice. It is said to give immediate relief for distress after eating, belching, sour stomach,
dizziness and headaches, and if
used for sufficient time will eradicate the worst dyspepsia. "Three ounces essence of Pepsin; three ounces syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catanid compound. Mix and use one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time." Catanid always comes put up in one ounce sealed packages. Any druggist should have it in stock by this time or he will quickly get it from his wholesale house. For best results mix the Pepsin and the Ginger, then let stand about an hour before adding the Catanid.
It will be more convenient to get the ingredients from the druggist and mix them at home. Those who have tried this are enthusiastic over its prompt and effective action. If you are not bothered with stomach troubles clip out this Catanid prescription and give it to some afflicted friend.

roofs," reiterated Jeanne. "Monsieur Dunwoody has pulled down his roof about his ear."

"Yes! Yes! Thank God! And so did Samson pull down the pillars
about him when he had back his strength!"

"Madame has given me occasion
to disappear," rejoined Jeanne,
with a resigned shrug. "I do not always find myself able to follow the lofty thought of Madame. But, at least, for these people of St. Genevieve there is no doubt. They have argued among themselves. The vote
here is against Monsieur Dunwoody.
He is what one calls depose."

"But then, Madame," she added
presently, as she turned at the door,
with the baby on her arm, "if Madame should wish to explore the matter for herself, that is quite possible. This night, perhaps tomorrow, Monsieur Dunwoody himself comes to St. Genevieve. He is to meet the voters of this place. He wishes to speak, to explain. I may say that, even, he will have the audacity to come here to advocate the cause of freedom, and the restriction of those slavery for which hitherto he has labored so valiantly. Perhaps there will be those who care to listen to the address of a man of no more principle. For me and for my husband Hector—we do not argue.
Hector, he is for Monsieur Dunwo-
de. Save as a maker of love, Madame, I am not!"

Josephine made no immediate reply. A tall mirror with pretentious golden frame hung opposite to her across the room. A few moments later, with a start, she suddenly pulled herself together, discovering that she had been gazing steadfastly
into the glass.

PLAN CAMPAIGN

FOR NEW MEMBERS

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. will hold a meeting and will hold a meeting and take lunch
together tonight at the building
when they will complete plans and organization for the annual campaign for new members for the association. They have a big task before them, but with a splendid year's work back of them there ought to be no great difficulty in reproducing
a membership of one thousand for the coming year. The activities of the new season will be under full swing
within the next ten days and the work looms up with greater possibilities, than ever before in the history of the local institution. With the growing interest in the association will undoubtedly be able to hold and interest an ever increasing number of men and boys. The night school enrollment will begin October 2. All classes in the gymnasium will be in full swing that week. The boys' department program is one of exceptional promise for the coming year.
The big campaign for membership will begin on Monday, October 2, and continue for a week or ten days. Advertising matter is now being distributed through the mails and other ways so that full announcement of all activities will be in the hands
of all the men and boys in the city
within the next week.

WORKERS OVERCOME

BY GAS IN DITCH

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 25.—Clarence E. Lee, foreman for the Madison Gas and Electric company, was nearly asphyxiated and several other workmen were overcome by gas
while working in a ditch Saturday.
They were engaged in making a connection and a large quantity of gas escaped. Lee was in a critical condition for some time after he had been rescued, but later in the day he had fully recovered.

A half dozen or more other workmen were overcome, but they were taken out of the ditch immediately
by fellow employees. Manager Frank L. Cross and Secretary John St.
John of the Madison Gas and Electric company led the rescue party.

CLANCY TRIAL ENDING

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 25.—
Arguments of the attorneys in the Clancy investigation will begin today, unless the defense takes longer
in its surrebuttal testimony than is anticipated.

When the fire and police commissioners adjourned Monday attorneys for the defense announced that they would occupy but an hour or two in replying to new evidence adduced by the attorneys for the prosecuting witness in rebuttal.

Adolph Kanneberg, who will open for the prosecution, will probably occupy the entire day. He will be followed by Harrison S. Green and Walter H. Bender, attorneys for Chief Clancy. William H. Rubin will close for the complaining witness.

Under the law the commission must hand down its decision within three days after the close of the trial.

MRS. MOUL IS BETTER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 25.—
Mrs. Charles Moul, who was found in her home nearly asphyxiated from inhaling illuminating gas, and is still in a serious condition in Emergency hospital, showed slight improvement
on Sunday.

Quality

The quality of flour, like cream, depends upon how much of the poorer grade is left after skimming.

MARVEL Flour is the cream of the wheat. It is a dry, thirsty flour; takes up more moisture in mixing and requires longer fermentation period. That's proof of superior flour quality. If a better flour is ever possible, it will be found under the MARPEL brand.

BRAKEMAN SLIPS HAND IS CUT OFF

Albert Wingstad, Brakeman of the Burlington, Is Injured at Fountain City Saturday Night

His hand cold and numbed, and the rail at which he grasped slippery because of the rain, Albert Wingstad, 1440 George street, a brakeman on the Burlington road, lost his hand and fell beneath the wheels of the freight train which he was attempting to board as it pulled out of Fountain City Saturday evening. His hand was ground off above the wrist, and he narrowly escaped being cut to pieces by the wheels.

Members of the train crew in the caboose noticed Wingstad lying on the ground as the caboose pulled slowly past, and went back to investigate. He was picked up nearly unconscious from loss of blood, with his left hand crushed off just above the wrist. The thumb still remains on the stump.

The train which Wingstad was trying to board was number 77, a northbound freight train. Harry French, 1611 Wood street, is the conductor of the train. Harvey Boyle, 1516 Kane street, is the other brakeman.

After being picked up hasty measures were applied to stop the bleeding, and the man was taken to the Fountain City station. He was later placed on No. 58 and taken to a hospital in Winona. Although very weak from loss of blood and shock, Wingstad is reported to be doing nicely, and a speedy recovery is expected. Wingstad is a married man with a small family.

SEVEN CARS DITCHED; TRAIN HITS DERAIL

Running through an open derrick near St. Peter crossing on the Milwaukee road last night about 11 o'clock, seven cars of a freight train were tipped over and rolled into the ditch, tying up the traffic on the River division for about six hours. No one was hurt. The cars that tipped on the head end were devoted to dead freight, the rest of the train consisting of a number of cars of stock. The train was in charge of William H. Burchell, 1033 Caledonia street.

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS LEAD BIG SLUMP

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Values crumbled on the stock exchange today as the result of a general selling movement everywhere, which seemed to be directed against all of the big industrial combinations. There was acute depression in the metal and chemical stocks, with the result that some of them reached new low levels for the present movement. Virginia Carolina Chemical dropped four points; American Cotton Oil, five; Amalgamated Copper, American Smelters and Steel were also down. The railroad list suffered, the downward movement being led by Union Pacific. So far as the railways were concerned, however, there was plenty of beneath the surface support evident, and the bears did not try to drive them down too far, apparently fearing reprisals.

B. & O. AELEGRAPHERS VOTING ON STRIKE

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 25.—The telegraphers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are today voting on striking to enforce demands for better pay, shorter hours and improved working conditions. Action by the union would affect telegraphers, telephoners, levermen and station agents and probably completely tie up the Baltimore & Ohio system. The union men demand an increase in pay of about ten per cent, fifteen day vacations for men employed two years or more, and 35 cents an hour for overtime. The company sought to compromise by offering three per cent advance in pay, twelve-day vacations and twenty-five cents an hour overtime. The union has a $3,000,000 strike fund.

ELECTRICIAN NEAR DEATH SATURDAY

Grasps Trolley Wire to Avoid Fall and 550
Volts Course Thru
His Body

With 550 volts of electricity passing through his body from his grip on a trolley wire at Fifth and Market streets, George Selke, 115 Mill street, Saturday afternoon escaped death from electrocution by a narrow margin. He escaped with merely burned hands.

For ten minutes Selke was a captive, held to the wire by the current. At the end of that time the power was shut off at the plant, and he was able to let go of the wire.

Selke was working with a companion fixing a tie wire at the corner, and through a misstep is said to have fallen with his hands grasping the big trolley wire. He was unable to let go, but the wooden floor of the repair platform saved him from instant electrocution. The current only burned his hands, and did not pass through his body.

His companion heard Selke's cry of dismay as he felt the powerful current passing through his hands, and ran to the store of J. B. Knutson on the corner. He telephoned the alarm into the office of the company and the "juice" was shut off until Selke descended.

The Magic of Gold Dust

Gold Dust is primarily a vegetable-oil soap in powder form, added to which are certain other cleansing and purifying ingredients that make it work more quickly and thoroughly than soap ever can. Gold Dust lathers instantly in hot or cold water—hard or soft. It is simply amazing to see how Gold Dust dissolves grease and dirt—at the same time driving away the germs; it makes things safe and sanitary as well as clean. For cleaning anything and everything around the house, nothing is so quickly effective as Gold Dust. It works like magic.

MRS. I.—Mrs. C. would make a great baseball catcher.
MR. E.—What makes you think so?
MRS. I.—Why, the other night she caught her husband stealing home and cut him out.

How Nature Makes New Complexions

(From The Family Physician)
It is well known that the human skin is constantly undergoing a tearing down and building up process. With advancing years or waning vitality this tissue-change lags; the lifeless, soiled surface skin stays on so long that its owner gets a "poor complexion."

Common sense tells us this dead skin cannot be enlivened or beautified by any cosmetic, lotion or powder. The natural thing to do is to remove the offensive skin—remove the bad complexion. It has been found that ordinary mercerized wax completely absorbs the devitalized skin, in minute particles, so gently, gradually, as to cause no inconvenience. Mercerized wax, which any druggist can supply, is put on at night like cold cream, only not rubbed in, and washed off in the morning. If you would have a brilliant, beautiful complexion, just use this simple treatment.

CASCARETS INSURE INSIDE CLEANLINESS

The millions of Cascaret users never have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

OUR 6 DAYS CLEARANCE SALE

Which Opened This Morning, Affords Remarkable Opportunity for the Thrifty and Economic Piano Purchaser. Note the following reasons which make this sale compulsory:

Our experience in handling large stocks of PIANOS and ORGANS throughout Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, has taught us the art of discrimination and the necessity of closing out Pianos that become shopworn—Pianos that are cancelled styles of many of the manufacturers' preceding year's designs—as well as every Piano returned to us from renting, regardless of profit or their original cost, and to merely state that they are bargains is putting it mildly.

These Pianos, which entitles the purchaser to large discounts, are not only standard made, but instrumentally reliable and constitute a safe Piano investment.

Beautiful San Domingo, Mahogany Burl Walnut, English Golden Oak and Circassian Walnuts are among the elegant woods used in case construction of these magnificent instruments and while we are selling this stock at cost and in some instances less than cost, we are by so doing averting a much larger loss a little later on by not carrying such pianos over and endeavoring to sell them at their original price during this year.

Housecleaning is a necessity in every establishment and this clearance sale affords every one looking for a Genuine Piano Bargain an opportunity they cannot afford to miss.

Choose the make of your piano as you would respect the author in selecting a good book. Note the following well known brands of Pianos that are to be sold at Cost and less than cost during this great weeding out process now in progress at our store:

Vose, Steck, Bergh, Kimball, Schaeffer, Kohler & Campbell, Whitney, Weber, Sohmer, Autopiano and Cecilian Self-Player pianos and many more.

Prices from $20.00 up. Piano Players, $35.00 up. Organs, $8.00 up.

Seeing is believing and here at our store is where your eyes will serve you best.

Every piano is marked in plain figures and a card giving the history of the piano since it left the factory is on each instrument. To the bargain hunter this opportunity will prove a rare treat, and any piano sold during this sale will not only take with it the manufacturers' guarantee but our personal guarantee as well. This proposition should cause the most skeptical to abandon further hesitancy and secure for themselves a piano of the greatest dependability at a great saving.

We are not only slaughtering prices on pianos but on everything in our store that is a little shop worn or used.

We earnestly invite all who are interested in the purchase of a Piano to come in to our store at once and ascertain if we have not something to please them in this bargain stock.

HACK ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY TODAY

Admits Shooting of Blekum and Says Money Quarrel was Cause of the Crime

SPECTACULAR IS THE ARREST

Two Officers Cover Man as Third Fells Him; Gun Missing Fire Saves McDonough

Samuel Hack, who attempted to murder Gilbert Blekum, La Crosse, H. A. Nelson, Harry, Minn., and Officer McDonough, Saturday afternoon following a dispute over money, today pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with intent to kill, before County Judge John Brindley and was bound over to the circuit court. He was removed to the county jail where he will remain until his trial comes up at the October term.

Dr. G. J. Egan, who is attending Blekum, today announced that although he is resting easily it will be impossible to state definitely whether or not he will recover for at least five days as a change is likely to come at any time.

The fact that he escaped instant death is considered miraculous as the bullet entered just to the left of his right eye and came out directly back of the base of the left ear, just missing the brain. He may lose his eye sight and hearing as the bullet may have come in contact with the nerves controlling his sight and hearing.

A mistaken idea that Gilbert Blekum, bartender at the Burlington hotel, was attempting to beat him out of some money which he had left in his charge, has been definitely established as the motive for the shooting and serious wounding of Blekum by Sam Hack, aged 40, Mineral Point, Wis., Saturday afternoon.

Hack has confessed to Chief Webster that he was mistaken in his belief that he had over seven dollars coming from the bartender, and no longer makes the assertion that he "hoped he killed him."

According to the story told Detective Frank Yoltin by Blekum at the hospital, and which is not denied by the prisoner, Hack has been in La Crosse since September 15. All the time he has been here he has stayed at the Mentis lodging house next to the saloon where the shooting occurred. Since the day after his arrival in La Crosse Hack has been acquainted with Blekum, and the two grew to be intimate during the course of their daily meeting.

Gave Money to Blekum

The same day upon which he arrived in La Crosse Hack cashed a certificate of deposit for $100, and gave $50 of this to Blekum for safekeeping. Five dollars of this amount Hack later asked Blekum to give to a friend by the name of Johnson, and every day since his coming Hack drew some money, and also ran up a bar bill.

Saturday afternoon Hack entered the saloon and drew $2 from Blekum and asked to have the remainder of his money given him. Blekum figured up the amounts which he had drawn, and after deducting a bill of $2.10 from the balance, found that there remained but 90 cents.

When told that he had less than a dollar coming from his money, Hack flew into a rage, and declared that he had seven dollars left of the fifty. He refused to listen to Blekum's attempts to show him by figures that the reckoning was correct. Finally he left the saloon in a rage, declaring as he went out: "I'll get you for this, Gilbert."

Returns With Gun

Twenty minutes later Hack returned, and the shooting took place a moment later. Blekum says that he was rolling a keg of beer across the floor toward the ice box when Hack entered. He looked up as Hack entered, and told him to wait a minute, that he would talk to him after he finished what he was doing. Hack immediately pulled the gun and fired point blank at the bartender, who fell to the floor from the shock of the bullet. Hack did not wait to see the result of his first shot but turned and shoved the gun in the face of H. A. Nelson, who was leaning on the bar. Nelson grappled with him and deflected the aim as the gun was fired. The bullet struck the floor and glanced off through a window.

L. E. Knowlton, Prosper, Minn., was in the saloon at the time of the shooting, and was a witness to all the events which preceded the actual firing of the shot.

"Hack came into the saloon earlier in the afternoon," he said, "and going up to Gilbert demanded a sum of money. As near as I could make out he was asking for seven dollars which he declared Blekum owed him. Blekum told him that he had already paid him five dollars, and that he had only two coming. He refused to accept the two, declaring that it was 'seven or none with me.' Blekum would not pay the other five and he left the saloon, cursing and muttering threats against the bartender."

"About twenty minutes later he came into the saloon again, and called out to Blekum, 'Come here, you —, I want to see you.' Blekum was on his knees before the ice box, taking out some bottles, and at the words of Hack he looked up over his shoulder. Hack immediately drew the revolver and fired, and Blekum fell to the floor with blood spurting from a wound over the eye."

"Nelson was leaning against the bar facing Hack's back, and as soon as he had shot Blekum, Hack turned to Nelson. Leveling the gun at him he shouted: 'I'll get you too, you —.' Just as he pulled the trigger Nelson knocked the gun downward, and the bullet hit the floor, glancing off and passing through the front window. Nelson clinched with Hack and struck him a heavy blow in the face, and Hack frantically beat the other over the head with the gun. He attempted to pull the trigger but Nelson had too strong a hold on the gun, and would not let him point it at him.

"At this moment Blekum staggered to his feet, and lunging over toward Hack, struck him a heavy blow in the back of the head. Schultz was rushing into the room, and I was on my feet starting for the mixup and shouting for someone to call the police, when Hack broke away and ran out of the door. He was bleeding from a cut on the head, I think. The whole affair didn't take three minutes."

Fought With Gun Man

Nelson's story of the shooting coincides with that of Knowlton. He states that he was not acquainted with Hack and had never seen him before. He says that he is at a loss to explain the gun man's attack on him, as he had said nothing and was only an onlooker.

"I am not sure how many shots were fired," he said, "and I haven't a very clear recollection of what took place after Hack shot Blekum. I know he turned on me with the gun, and that I jumped at him and turned the gun away just as it went off. He tried to put the gun to my head, and when I held it pointed into the air he beat me on the head with the butt of it."

The revolver used by Hack was a .38 caliber Iver Johnson, purchased the same afternoon from Adam Kroner, together with fifty rounds of Peters cartridges. It is the belief of the police that after his first altercation with Blekum Hack went straight to the store and purchased the weapon, then returned and shot the bartender.

The bullet which passed through Blekum's head was found by the police imbedded in the backbar, just below the mirror. It was extracted and is being held by the police as evidence, with the two empty shells, three loaded ones, and the revolver. One of the empty shells was picked up by the chief of police on the floor of the saloon, a circumstance which puzzles the chief, as he cannot explain why Hack should have stopped in the saloon to take one shell out of the gun.

Arrest is Spectacular

The arrest of Hack following the shooting was the most spectacular which has taken place in La Crosse for years. Officer McDonough was walking his beat near the court house when two young men rushed up to him and told him that a man had been shot at the Burlington hotel. McDonough started on the run, but was picked up by Romanowsky's baggage truck, the driver of which lashed his horses into a run. As the wagon rounded the corner of Second and State streets, Hack ran from the door of the saloon, and started down Main street toward the river. Jumping from the wagon McDonough followed at top speed. As Hack ran out of the saloon, and entered his lodging house next door, Mrs. Mentis, the landlady, was horrified by his bloody clothes and face, and ordered him out. He ran out of the door and across the street, entering the alley behind Martin Brothers' factory. He turned halfway down the block, and came onto Main street by the Spicer & Buschman establishment. Officer McDonough was close behind, and the man broke into a run toward the river.

Meanwhile a call had been sent to the police station, and officers were beginning to arrive from all directions. As McDonough went over the brow of the slope leading to the river, Desk Sergeant Koschnitzke was at Second and Main streets. Officers Wolfe and Horschak were in front of the Ruprecht broom factory on Front street, nearly a block away, and seeing McDonough after a man at top speed, they also started out on a run.

McDonough in Danger

The man turned north on the levee and after a few steps turned at bay upon McDonough. Shouting curses, he raised the gun which he had been carrying, and holding it in both hands to get steady aim, pulled the trigger. There was no explosion, and a look of amazement crossed his face as he cocked the weapon and leveled it a second time. Again the revolver missed fire. Officer McDonough was in the meantime steadily advancing on the man, covering him with his own weapon, but afraid to shoot for fear of hitting some one in the crowd which had gathered around Hack. Sergeant Koschnitzke at this juncture came on the scene, and drew his gun. He was just about to pull the trigger when a shout from Frank Wolfe not to shoot stopped him. Wolfe had come running down the levee from the south, and without a word, just as Hack snapped the gun in a third attempt to slay McDonough, he swung a terrific blow on Hack's ear. Hack crumpled up, and was about to fall when Wolfe caught him, and Koschnitzke wrested the gun away from him. Throughout the affair McDonough did not stop his steady advance upon Hack, although there is no doubt that had even one cartridge exploded he would have been hit, as Hack was taking steady, careful aim.

RODGERS' MACHINE WRECKED

RED HOUSE, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Again halted by injuries to his machine, Calbraith P. Rodgers, cross continent flyer, spent today getting ready for another try tomorrow. The machine was damaged more than was at first supposed and it was almost certain he could not start today.

At his present rate of progress, Rodgers will land on the Pacific coast a month and a half too late to win the $50,000 prize.

Majestic Bill a Record for High Standard, and Makes Big Hit of Season

Intelligent critics agree that the bill with which the Majestic theatre opened yesterday is one of the best offerings in the history of the theater. Not only is it well balanced with acts every one of which has decided merit, but it contains some numbers of transcendent merit.

Paul Kleist's "Land of Dreams" is a fine exposition of everything in black art. "Everything" is right. This is not juggling or slight of hand. The man is everything from musician to birdman, conjuring up apparitions that delight the audience. His act was followed by tumultuous applause that lasted for several minutes.

The bill opens with "Juggling DeLisle," a comedy juggler who is among the best in this class of entertainers and fun makers. Emil Subers is a colored minstrel who ranks with the foremost.

"The Norrieses," Viroqua's contribution to vaudeville, are the pair who play six instruments each at "one and the same time." They have made good, and are headed for the eastern Grand circuit and Europe.

"Dainty June Roberts & Co." is a delightful little skit. In it the Old Doll Maker loves one of his dolls, and it comes to life. "June" Roberts, the little miss who is "dolly," will surely win your heart. Every mother who sees this act is certain to send her children to see it. It is the quaintest, neatest, dearest thing in vaudeville.

AIRSHIP TOO COSTLY

JOHN BULL'S AIR BATTLE CRAFT DESTROYED BY DROP; EXPERIMENT COSTS $400,000

LONDON, Sept. 25.—It is semi-officially announced today that, following the complete destruction yesterday of the first dirigible naval airship built for the government at a cost of $400,000, there will be no further experiments in the "Br." army with the dirigible type. They are too dangerous, it is said, and the safeguards with which the latest one was equipped and which were declared to be designed to prevent the troubles heretofore met with the Zeppelin type, failed utterly in practical use.

The new machine was being floated out of its shed at Borrow-in-Furness when the center of the framework gave way and the airship broke in half. The crew jumped overboard into the water and swam ashore.

There were several thrilling escapes from the second and third story windows by means of scaling ladders. The firemen were unable to make their way into the fourth floor on account of the heat. It was there the four died.

FANCE IS WILD WITH EXCITEENT

part lies on the bottom of the harbor upside down.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Stunned by France's latest disaster, the loss of the magnificent fighting ship Liberte while lying peacefully swaying at her anchors in the roadstead at Toulon, the minister of marine and his assistants took immediate steps to aid the families of the victims and determine the responsibility for the disaster. The news has convulsed all France and is everywhere accepted as an evil omen coming at it does on the heels of the peaceful settlement of the troubles with Germany over Morocco. Rejoicing has been turned into mourning and there is a concerted demand to have the entire naval system thoroughly investigated, experts declaring the higher officers of the navy unfitted to command and the personnel of the rank and file very low.

There is still much confusion regarding the actual details of the explosion. The minister of marine was in communication by long distance telephone with the port captain at Toulon and received a detailed description of the disaster.

According to the report the complement of the Liberte was 710 men and thirty-two officers. Of this number one-third of the officers and 120 of the men had been given over Sunday leaves of absence. Most of the crew of the warship were sleeping below decks when the fire broke out. There are several stories as to where it started, but the minister of marine believes that it broke out in a storeroom adjacent to the after magazine and was caused by a short circuit in the lighting wires.

Fight to Save Magazines

The fire alarm was sounded and the watch on deck rushed to fight the flames, while the officers of the deck ordered all hands to their posts. As the half clad figures rushed to their positions for fire drill, there came a slight explosion which shook the structure of the giant warship.

Instantly flames seemed to break out all over the after quarter of the warship. Two other explosions followed at minute intervals and with the third flames spouted most high. By their light the officers and men of the warship could be seen at their posts vainly trying to keep the fire back from the main magazines of the warship, which were filled with tons of explosives.

Suddenly, as the other vessels of the fleet and the fire tugs from the yard were heading toward the blazing warships, there came a detonation of terrific force which shook the waters of the harbor with the force of a tidal wave and crashed into atoms thousands of lights of glass in the sleeping city adjoining.

Ship Breaks in Pieces

The big warship seemed to break in a dozen pieces, while the force of the explosion was so great that a giant hole was torn in the steel starboard side of the warship Republique, anchored at broadside to Liberte.

As the smoke cleared away, it was seen that the Liberte had been totally destroyed, although the hulk was still above the water.

The lifeboats dropped simultaneously from every ship in the anchored fleet and the great launches of the officers were pressed into service and the floating debris was quickly being searched. One hundred burned and wounded survivors of the ill-fated battleship were rescued and taken on board the other vessels. All were so badly hurt that they had to be placed immediately in the ship's hospitals and none could tell a coherent story of the cause of the disaster.

While there are many theories here as to the cause of the explosion there is also wonder as to why the fire could not have been held in the room in which it was discovered. In addition to being equipped with a complete up-to-date fire fighting equipment, every magazine was isolated and so arranged that it could be flooded by the throwing over of an electric lever.

One theory held by several of the experts at the ministry of marine is that the initial fire, which the reports say was caused by crossed electric wires, put the electrical equipment of the warship out of business and made it impossible to close all of the compartment doors.

Minister of Marine Delcasse, who on Sunday launched France's biggest dreadnaught Courbet and on Friday the new Jean Bart, is completely prostrated over the disaster. He is preparing to leave for Toulon on a special train to assume personal charge of the work of placing the responsibility for the disaster.

GYPSY WAR IS ENDED

LAMB'S BLOOD POURED WITH WEIRD INCANTATIONS IN SETTLEMENT OF THE TRIBES' QUARREL

KENOSHA, Wis., Sept. 25.—With weird incantations, lasting for nearly twenty-four hours and ending with the slaughter of a lamb and the pouring of its blood over the members of the warring factions, two tribes of gypsies settled their differences on a farm west of Kenosha on Saturday. Five members of the tribe of Bimble who were to have been tried for assaulting and robbing Teda Coughlan, a member of a rival tribe, were released from custody by the tribal court.

More than 300 gypsies, many of whom had traveled hundreds of miles, attended the powwow, which was to bring peace and the head of four tribes sat in judgment on the alleged wrongs of Coughlan. They decreed that the members of the Bimble family should pay him $1,000 and pay all costs which might have arisen out of the arrest and prosecution of the members of the tribe.

Coughlan and the venerable Steve Bimble, leader of the tribe, embraced each other and then drank from the cup of lamb's blood, taken that all differences had been eradicated.

ALLIED TRADESMEN LIKELY TO STRIKE

CHAUFFEUR IN A BLACK HAND PLOT

Demands $2,000 from Employer Through Anonymous Letter, but Gets a Home Instead

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Former Alderman Frank P. Bennett appeared at detective headquarters today to identify Lester Harrison, 24, a chauffeur, temporarily employed by Bennett to motor the former official's invalid son through the parks. Bennett showed the detectives a letter received by him September 21, in which he was commanded to leave $2,000 at a drug store in the vicinity of his home last night. When Bennett received the letter he notified the police, who advised him to deliver the package as ordered and to address it to "Robert L. Carter," as the letter, which threatened death to the recipient if he failed to obey, stated.

Early today Edwin Epstein, 13, went to the drug store, and asked if a package was there for "Mr. Carter." The druggist gave the lad the package.

Epstein was followed by two detectives. The boy met Harrison, the police say, and gave him the bogus goods. The chauffeur was placed under arrest and taken to head quarters, where he declared he was offered fifty cents by "Carter" to secure the package. He said he gave Epstein ten cents for getting it.

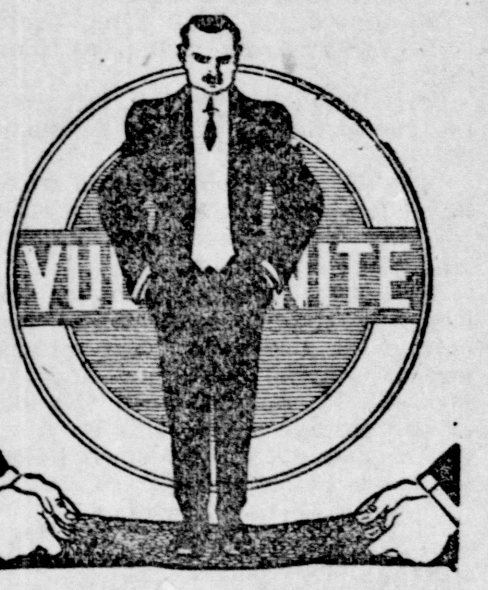

Harrison denied that he wrote the letter, and also any knowledge of a blackhand plot.

WHY HYDROPLANE LA CROSSE FAILED

Mystery Is Explained by Builder at Meeting of Motor Boat Committee

WILL SELL THE RACE BOAT Club Officers Decide to Transform 6-Cylinder Racing Motor Into Three "Twos"

The mystery of why the hydroplane speed boat La Crosse failed, was explained at a meeting of the racing committee of the La Crosse Motor Boat club, by John Matejka, of the Winona Boat & Machine Works, builder of the craft. This is the first definite light that has been thrown upon the matter and is of general interest.

In short, it was the untuned, and experimental hydroplane hull that put the boat which everybody thought was destined to be a world beater, out of business.

Mr. Matejka said last night that Charles Gardiner, his partner, who has conducted all the experiments with the craft said the tachometer showed the engine turning up 1300 revolutions per minute, which, with the step-up gear, meant that the propeller wheel was turning 1690 revolutions per minute. This speed was so terrific that a special bronze racing wheel was crystalized and cracked and even blueed, by the action of the water at the terrible speed at which it revolved. With the engine turning this speed, which was 300 r. p. m. faster than guaranteed, it proved that the engine was more successful than expected and that if the hull had been able to deliver the goods the "La Crosse" would, indeed have stood a good show of capturing every prize at the big Dubuque regatta.

However it is already well known that the power was too great for the boat. The early trials stripped the gear, and later trials ripped the reducing box off its timbers when the power was turned on. With these things repaired after the races were over Mr. Gardiner continued his efforts with the boat, with the result that it was proved beyond a doubt that the hull was not suitable for such extreme power.

When the boat was started and the power turned into the gear box the "La Crosse" would lift her nose out of the water for more than a foot. Then as the power was increased the bow would lift higher and higher, the stern settling and dragging. Mr. Matejka said that after a certain speed was attained—about 20 miles an hour—then the more power that was turned into it, the slower she would go, owing to the tremendous suction at the stern. Finally if Gardiner attempted to put on the full 200 horsepower and high speed the stern would sink so far into the water it was necessary to turn off the power to prevent the boat taking water at the stern. As soon as the power was shut down, said Mr. Matejka, the boat would dive in front, risking the safety of the occupants.

To eliminate this difficulty the tanks were moved forward and other weights changed, but without result. It was finally concluded that the engine was too powerful, and perhaps a little too heavy for the hull, and the thing was given up as a failure.

Mr. Matejka last night suggested that the club build a new hull and enter the boat in the 32 foot class next year. He said the engine was perfect and that there would be good chances of success. Members of the committee, however, decided that probably next season would see many startling speed demonstrations, and that the local organization would not have much chance to win against such boats as the "Dixie IV" and others which will come west next year.

It was therefore decided to have the builders transform the 6-cylinder motor into three sets of w-cylinder machines, of 40 horsepower

each, and sell them for use in pleasure boats. One of these 2-cylinder motors should drive an ordinary 30-foot boat better than 25 miles an hour, and it is thought there will be ready sale for them in this form, thus enabling the club committee to return the money contributed by members toward building the racer.

Under this decision the hydroplane hull, which no doubt would "deliver" with a lighter and less powerful engine, will be sold separately, and is being considered by several local parties.

Sagging or Hanging Cheeks and Chin

(From Woman's Magazine)

Flabbiness of cheeks, chin or neck has been considered very difficult to correct, until the recent discovery of a veritable wonder-worker for such conditions. The preparation is so simple and harmless any woman can easily make and apply it. It is all the more remarkable in that its beneficial effects are apparent even after the first application, both as to appearances and the feeling of comfort produced.

The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in 1 pt witch hazel. Use daily as a wash lotion. The solution tends to contract and solidify the loosened, baggy tissue, smoothing out the folds, creases and wrinkles, besides having a refining influence on skin of coarse texture and large pores. As witch hazel and saxolite can be had at any drugstore at little cost, many will doubtless be glad to have this successful recipe.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY SCHOOL

New Barns and Other Improvements to Be Ready When the School Opens

The term at the La Crosse County Agricultural school at Onalaska opens on October 16, when an especially large attendance is expected as judging by the interest taken in the institution a record enrollment will doubtless be enjoyed.

A large new barn is now being constructed on the grounds while the livestock pavilion is also being put up. These improvements being made necessary because of the large attendance and the fact that it is thought the efficiency of the work done can be materially increased in this way. In order to gain practical experience, the boys at the school will do the finishing work.

Next week the school is to have a booth at the fair grounds the same as last year where members of the faculty will be in charge and where any who wish to may enroll. However, an additional booth has been secured to exhibit specimens of sewing, cooking, farm products, carpentry, and engineering which have been made by the students in these departments. This will demonstrate the grade of work being accomplished and any who are interested in or are planning to enter the school will be received by those in charge of the booth and given all the information desired.

EASTON MAKES ONE CORRECTION

Says Board Pays Boys' Physical Director Only $20 per Year; Will Pull Together

Referring to a recent speech of Dr. Ed Evans before the permanent committee on tuberculosis, in which the doctor criticized the board of education for placing girls' and boys' athletic directors ahead of the proposed school trained nurse, L. F. Easton today said Dr. Evans was misinformed as to one assertion made in his address.

The facts are that Miss Sarah Ryder, an expert engaged by the committee, has just concluded an investigation upon which she bases a report that there exists in the city schools a condition so bad that the trained nurse is an immediate necessity. Dr. Evans criticized the board for maintaining an athletic director for boys to whom is paid $1,100 per year "to make 22 of the strongest boys in school stronger" while it had taken no action on the employment of a nurse for the benefit of all the pupils.

Report Incomplete

On behalf of the school board it is stated that the members were not aware of the nature of the Ryder report.

Mr. Easton said: "I think every member of the school board agrees with Dr. Evans that Miss Ryder's report places upon the school authorities and the public the duty of prompt action to the end that relief may be given. However, there is one statement in his address concerning which he is misinformed, and I desire to correct it.

"F. G. Carter, the boys' physical director at the high school, receives a salary of $1,100 per year. Of this the school board pays him $900 and the student's athletic body pays him $200. Mr. Carter has four classes in the regular school work, whereas other teachers have five. He is a university graduate, and were he devoting his full time to teaching $1,100 would be a fair teacher's salary for him. As he is doing four-fifths the work of a regular teacher, the

OTHER CITIES ASK LA CROSSE'S ADVICE

Representatives from Fond du Lac and Oshkosh, both of which cities are contemplating the installation of municipal water plants, have written La Crosse for information as to how they work here. Communications in regard to this matter have been received from both cities and the board of public works has made out reports which will be sent to those places. The report shows just what has been done here and how the water system is operated as well as with what success.

MANY ATTEND Y. W. C. A. RALLY

Delightful Time Enjoyed by Large Crowd at the Cass Street Home Friday Night

The large number of members and friends of the Young Women's Christian association who attended the rally given Friday evening at the home on Cass street report a splendid time.

After an informal half hour spent in the parlors the company repaired to the gymnasium, where a program, designed to bring before everyone the work planned by the various committees for the year, was given. The folders with announcements of classes and schedules were explained in detail by the chairmen of committees: Mrs. W. R. Finch, the educational classes and clubs; Mrs. Carl Rau, with Miss Amanda Clement, the new physical director, the gymnasium classes, and Miss Bertha Hoefke, the Bible and mission classes and vespers services.

Following this humorous illustrations of some of the classes were presented by members of the classes.

The common school branches with Mrs. Carl Ogden as a typical "Little Red Schoolhouse" teacher, and pupils to whom correct spelling was a new art furnished much amusement.

The German class appeared as German peasant girls at a "kaffee klatsch," speaking in their native tongue.

A gymnasium class under Miss Clement with marching and free hand movements by the girls proved amusing and instructive.

Miss Marie Peterson, visiting nurse, who is to have a class this year in first aid to the injured, gave a vivid illustration of the value of the work of that class by a demonstration upon one of the secretaries.

One of the most amusing illustrations of the work was the millinery class with Miss Genevieve Caldwell presenting, in a clever speech, creations of various sorts after trying them upon the model, Miss Bertha Hoefke.

The music of the evening consisted of the Wisconsin song sung by the Geneva girls and a very delightful violin solo by Miss Fay Shuman, who is to take the leadership of an association orchestra.

Before adjourning to the parlors where refreshments were served by the girls from the La Crosse Telephone company, the girls were told about the once-a-year club, which is composed of those who voluntarily offer to render some one special piece of service to the association during the year. Many girls signed up for it.

The matter of the sidewalk which must be built around the association grounds on both Cass and Fourth streets this fall was brought to the attention of the girls in a very unique way and a chance given for the girls to help in its building. A diagram had been prepared by Miss Agnes Ballard, the house secretary, of the sidewalk, which was divided into blocks of nine squares each, each square costing eight cents. These squares are for sale and when sold have the name of the buyer placed on them and pasted to the diagram. The diagram is white, the squares are pink, so that when the walk is paid for it will be a diagram filled with pink squares. The girls took to the idea enthusiastically and a good start has been made on the building of the walk which is so much needed around the grounds.

The girls expect to work hard during the next few weeks to sell the pink blocks and to give many a chance of help in the building of the walk.

The firm is to take in a partner, and will be incorporated under the state laws in the near future. The partner, whose name has not been disclosed, is said to be from Ohio. Mr. Neumeister states that the plans of the firm include a new factory of substantial size in the near future.

BOXER INDEMNITY STUDENTS IN CONFERENCE

Group picture of indemnity students, copyrighted by Underwood and Underwood.

PRINCETON, N. J.—Some years since, the United States government notified the Chinese authorities that it would waive all further indemnification claims against the latter arising from the boxer outbreak; this, in the face of the fact that China was willing to continue paying an annual sum in accordance with the agreement that it had made with this and other nations.

The Celestial empire then notified the United States that in return for the generous action of the latter, the amount that it would otherwise have paid under the agreement would be expended in sending Chinese young men and women to United States colleges in order to be educated in modern thought, theories and actions.

This has been done, the students being chosen by severe competitive examinations in various parts of the Chinese empire.

Once a year the Chinese students' alliance meets in conference. This year the function was held at Princeton university as the picture shows the students are thoroughly Americanized in appearance and manners.

KIMMEL'S MOTHER IS STILL UNCONVINCED

NILES, Mich., Sept. 25.—One by one the old-time residents of this city are beginning to believe that the true George A. Kimmel, former banker, has returned, but Mrs. Stella Kimmel, mother of the missing man, still remains unconvinced. After a visit of five hours with the man claiming to be Kimmel, at the old Kimmel home, Mrs. Kimmel shook her head sadly and said that some instinct told her that the man was not her son.

Kimmel lost a point in his attempt to prove his identity when he was unable to remember a picture of himself he had purchased and placed in the house. However, he immediately recognized Eugene Cook of Kalamazoo, a former friend, and asked about an incident seventeen years ago when he had borrowed Cook's horse.

Letters are pouring in from all parts of the country inquiring about a Kimmel, some believing that he is a long lost relative who disappeared years ago.

TAFT STARTS ON TANKTOWN ROUTE

Begins "Winning" of Insurgent Kansas by Series of Speeches in Small Towns

GOVERNOR STUBBS IS MUM

President Urges Freer Use of Impeachment Instead of Recall of Judges

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., Sept. 25.—Ten thousand Kansans listened in ominous silence when President Taft here today explained his vetoes of the democratic tariff bills. Not a single hand clapped or cheered, except from the reception committee on the platform behind, greeted the president's talk. He argued earnestly, but in vain to move the crowd, but insurgent Kansas listened attentively without sign of approval or disapproval.

"Bound as I was," said President Taft, "by my platform, pledged to see that American industry was sufficiently protected, I could do nothing but withhold my sign from those bills."

"I am not here to apologize for those vetoes; I am here to explain them," the president said, and the few people on the platform with him applauded. Silence still held the crowd. The president promised to recommend a tariff reduction as soon as the tariff board reports.

After a hurried breakfast at the Country club the president paraded by auto through streets lined with 3,000 school children. Ten thousand persons gathered in the plaza where the president spoke from a temporary stand.

Urges Impeachment
Speaking in St. Louis Saturday President Taft put forth the suggestion of a wider power of impeachment as a substitute for the more radical proposal of a judicial recall. The president declared that the law's delay unquestionably was one of the greatest causes of unrest in this country, and said that undoubtedly the recall idea had grown out of the fact that the courts in many instances are not performing the functions they should.

Judges should be made more responsible, the president declared, and the means of impeachment made more simple. There should be judicial procedure, a proper hearing rather than public clamor. Mr. Taft declared that the delay in administering justice in this country should bring the blush of shame to all the good Americans, and that the courts of this country made a poor showing in comparison with those of England, where the judges keep up with their dockets and where criminals face swift punishment.

Discusses Frankly
The president spoke with much earnestness on the subject of reforming judicial procedure. He said was something with which he was most familiar, and that, both as a lawyer and judge, he felt free to discuss the matter from the frankest possible standpoint. His speech on this subject was impromptu, and followed the conclusion of a luncheon at the City Club. The president's set speech of the day was an oration, the work and the purpose of the tariff board.

WOULD OIL ALL STREETS IN LA X

Commissioner Urges Pavement of Causeway with Asphalt; to Use Gravel

It was announced this morning by the board of public works that the street commission will introduce a resolution some time this winter recommending that the council appropriate a sufficient amount of money so that all streets in La Crosse may be given a coat of asphalt oil and be repaired so as to put them in condition for receiving it next year.

That the oiled streets are the best is the contention of the street commissioner. He asserts that if the council acts favorably on his recommendation and gives him enough money to do the work that he will make the streets in this city the best in the country, for he declares that he is entirely satisfied with the results attained where the oil has been tried this year.

This year a grade of oil which is guaranteed was used, the company guaranteeing that one application will last two years while two applications will hold for five years. This, asserts the street commissioner, is the best oil to use. Other grades have to be put on each year.

The street commissioner says that as a proof of the efficiency of La Crosse oiled streets, the fire insurance underwriters recently sent a stream of water from a hydrant at Eighth and Pine streets under enormous pressure but that the street there was not damaged in the least except at the curbing where there was a slight open space. Two of the heaviest rains in several years also failed to harm the street.

It was the plan of the city to lay brick pavement along the causeway but the street commissioner says that he will ask the council to let him put asphalt there also. He proposes to use native stone on the road and then put on asphalt and gravel screenings which he says would put the drive in the best possible shape. It is his contention that native stone macadam will be the future pavement for this city and that gravel screenings will be preferred over granite for all this can be secured here and at much less cost.

AMERICAN SAILORS KILLED BY YACANS

MANILA, Sept. 25.—Advices received at naval headquarters today tell of the killing of Ensign Haller Belt, the serious wounding of ordinary Seaman J. H. Catherine and the wounding of Hospital Apprentice J. H. McGuire and Machinist F. Henereche in an affray with the warlike Yacan tribesmen in the island of Basilan. They were members of a party landed from the gunboat Pampanga, one of the little craft doing police duty among the islands.

KIMMEL O. K. SAYS HIS GRANDMOTH

Mother Still Disown Kimmel, but Grandparent Is Positive; Sentiment Divided

NILES, Mich., Sept. 25.—The people of Niles settled down today to await developments in the mysterious Kimmel case which has stirred this little town as it has never been disturbed before. Rumors of sensational developments to be expected this week are flying thick and fast but nothing definite as to their nature can be learned.

Kimmel returned yesterday from a trip to Berrien Springs, near here where he caused the same stir as he did here. Some of the old residents are positive he is the true George Kimmel, while others assert just as positively that he is an imposter. He greeted some people as old time friends while he failed to recognize others.

Today Kimmel stated that he would not attempt again to see Mrs. Stella Kimmel, whom he calls mother. He says she has betrayed his confidence.

Mrs. Hattie Stevens, grandmother of George A. Kimmel, who lives at Berrien Springs, today declared that she was positive her grandson had returned.

Kimmel visited her yesterday and told her of many things which happened long ago, which caused the aged woman to assert that he was her missing grandson.

UMPS LANDS FOR THREE KNOCKOUTS

Fans Try to Mob Billy Evans at Cleveland, but Official Proves a "Hope"

MARQUARD HITS THE BUMPS

High Priced Twirler Retired in Fifth, and Giants Are Pulled Back; Cubs Rest

AMERICAN LEAGUE
PHILADELPHIA, 5; CLEVELAND, 3
 CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—A near riot marked the close of yesterday's game between the Athletics and the Naps when the crowd, angered by some close decisions, attacked Umpire "Billy" Evans. While those decisions did not in any way affect the score, the Naps losing, 5 to 3, the crowd became incensed and hoisted Evans unmercifully. He put Butcher out of the game at the close of the ninth and as he started off the field, was attacked. Evans knocked out one husky fan and then he and a handful of Naps and Athletic players became engaged in a free for all fight. Evans accounted for two other pugilistic fans, Birmingham knocked out another, and Davis, Barry, James, Oldring and Doc White, the Nap trainer, distributed black eyes and bloody noses around the fringe of the crowd, while Evans escaped through the subway to the dressing rooms. His only injury was a kick in the back which he received as he was going down the steps into the subway. Evans, the Naps and Athletics departed for the east early this morning.

KRAMER RETAINS TITLE

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 25.—For the eleventh straight year, Frank Kramer is national cycling champion. His nearest rival, Jackie Clarke, of Australia, is 52 points behind and cannot head off the title-holder even though he beats him in every remaining race.

BATS WAY TO HONOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—His timely homer which won the police-firemen game, has landed Thomas Donohue back in the detective bureau from which he had been demoted to uniform.

the fifth inning, George Wiltz taking his place. Rube Benton, the Red new southpaw from Chattanooga, though hit freely, was very steady and would have held the Giants to two runs with good support. Score: R H E

FOUR OUTCASTS ARE ALL-STARS

Wais, Kernan, Crangle and Watson Selected, and Kelly and Brenton Are Close

Who are the best players in the Minny league? F. W. Deguire, writing for the Minneapolis Tribune, shows good judgment in the following selection of an all-star team:

Wais, catcher, La Crosse.
 Dolan, first base, Superior.
 Kernan, second base, La Crosse.
 Bancroft, shortstop, Superior.
 Leber, third base, Duluth.

Outfielders, Miller, Duluth; Swanson, Winona; and Crangle, La Crosse.

Pitchers, Daus, Winona; Dahlgren, Superior; Watson, La Crosse; and Wagner, Winona.

In his selection of players, Catcher Wais of the Outcasts is given the preference over the other backstops due to his ability to steal bases and hit when hits are needed. Wais is a good receiver but his selection is largely due to the fact that he plays ball from start to finish and is always determined to win, which not only makes a player popular with the fans but is also a long step in the career of any player who aspires to reach the majors. He undoubtedly has the best of the argument as far as the Minny league men are concerned.

Watson, Daus and Dahlgren are easily entitled to a place on the pitching staff and although Wagner of the Pirates is given the fourth place, Brenton is considered his equal.

Dolan is given the first base position over Kelly of the Outcasts but it is a safe wager that although Dolan may be equal to Kelly he is no better. Dolan played splendid ball during the past season but was probably chosen on account of his past record. Kelly played an excellent game both on the sack and with the stick and his work was in no way inferior to that of the former Wausau manager.

As for the remainder of the men there can be but little doubt but that they merited a position on the all star team as few of the other men were in their class.

STAGG WITHOUT TEAM

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—University of Chicago's athletic menu seems to consist of scrimmagesless football. At least that's about the way Coach Stag feels about it, for he foresees a stretch of gridiron sessions devoid of actual mixups unless his squad increases early this week.

With Ira Davenport among the contenders the quarterback material will be treated to the most thorough tryout today.

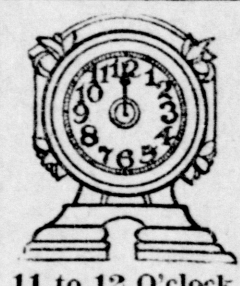

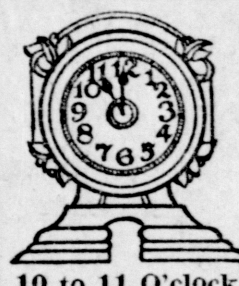

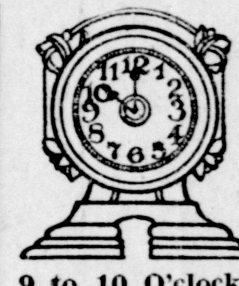

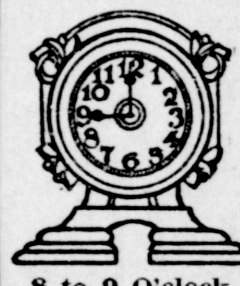

HOUR SALE

8 until 12 O'clock Tuesday

Some prices go up every hour, others go down. For instance, dress goods will be on sale from 8 o'clock to 9 at per yard 69c, and the price will drop every hour until 12 o'clock. Waists will be on sale between 8 and 9 o'clock at 29c, and the price is raised every hour. We have selected seasonable items at prices that will cause them to move fast, and while we have endeavored to select quantities sufficiently large to last throughout the forenoon, at these prices, no doubt, many will be immediately snapped up. Therefore the earlier you come the wider your choice, and the surer you are of getting the articles you want.

The store will be closed Tuesday afternoon, on account of La Crosse day at the Inter-state Fair.

On the stroke of the hour some prices go down, other up. Positively no price in effect other than their respective hour. We fill no telephone orders at these prices.

DIAMOND DUST

The Giants won again, though it took ten innings, and Rube Marquard to do it. The Cardinals got ten hits to their six—but an error permitted the McGrawites to put over the winning tally.

The Cubs won again, too, proving to Burns that he couldn't hand it to them twice in the same place in the same series. They touched the southpaw up for 13 unlucky hits. But with the seven full game lead that the Giants now possess, there will be a little interest to the Giant-Cub series which starts here next week.

Ambrose McConnell, the Sox second baseman, said to be scheduled for the minors next year, laced out four hits in the first game.

The managers are trying out so many new recruits—now that the Giants practically have won the pennant—that the box scores are strangely unfamiliar things these days.

Another veteran made a record yesterday, Billy Sullivan catching his 1100th game in big league company.

Boyd, a Red recruit, beat the Trolley Dodgers five to three.

The Cleveland baseball club could not lick the Athletics and the Cleveland baseball fans (?) couldn't lick Umpire Evans. Well, who said they could? Evans put three of them out, and then, in a great mob, they gallantly whipped two men on street cars because they looked like Evans. Which same is the acme of true sportsmanship.

While the Reds were pounding Rube Marquard out of the box, rain and President Lynch prevented the Cubs from getting even one game from the Bean Eaters.

Who says baseball isn't an honest game? The Reds are pulling for the Giants to win; yet they knocked the Giants' best twirler out of the box and won their game, 6 to 5.

Judge W. C. Adamson, congressman from Georgia, suggests Sy Cobb as vice presidential candidate on the democratic ticket, declaring he's a better baseball man than Jim Sherman. Maybe he's right.

Rain prevented the only game the Cubs and Bean Eaters could have played. Barney Dreyfuss' objection put a stop to talk of a double header, even if J. Pluvius had permitted.

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings is the first woman to receive honorary degree of doctor of civil law from King's college, Windsor, Nova Scotia.

In a new internal combustion engine invented by a Pennsylvanian the burned gases are blown out of the cylinder by air compressed in the base of the engine.

The 1912 list of players for the National league handed out by President Lynch looks like the roster of the first maneuver division at San Antonio; neither seems to be on a real war footing.

The taste is the proof of the pleasant blend of Bohemian hops, the world's very finest barley, and water flowing from a well in granite rock. Known everywhere as the beer that's thoroughly aged.
